GOLD MINER INDEX OSCILLATOR
ANALYTICS
BATTLE STATIONS ??

Keep in mind the WEEKLY has about 5 Times the impact of the daily.

RED ALERT ? NO !
ALL CLEAR ? NO !
THEN WHAT ?

What struck me like a wind coming up was the number of writer/analysts calling an ALL CLEAR. It seemed Classic in that as we engaged the Third (3rd) Leg of a Bull Movement started in Early December, and have fueled this run as Early Adapters joined the run, that we now begin to lose power, momentum and acceleration as the Last of the Crowd piles in, and we get a spikey top that leaves us RIPE for correction.

The current conditions shown by the GOLD MINER INDEX BREATH OSCILLATOR measures show:

WEEKLY : MACD STALLING IN VERTICAL CLIMB	DAILY : MACD stalled, flattened & hesitates
Oscillator turning down, Stochastics falling.	Oscillator stalling in-place, Stochastics topp'g

So what becomes of this Leg and this Rally ?

Analysis: Breadth Oscillator Daily & Weekly at the top of a 3rd Leg in a 3-legged Bull Advance started in Early December.

Two intermediate flat corrections in place, now possible a classic reaction-correction to the Feb 10 GDX Gap 23.94-24.23, HUI GAPS either 218.73-221.84 (scary) or 226.23-226.83.
LOGICAL STOPPING POINTS.

The BULL will do everything it can to throw off as many riders as possible, while the Market collects its fee for educating the new comers, and those without savvy.

Keeping in mind that certain dates act like magnets, if you were surveying this terrain, and you knew that Income Tax Day was Monday, April 15, that Good Friday was April 18th, and the Full Moon peaked on the Night of April 15, plus that was the 1st Anniversary of the 2013 COMEX GOLD TAX DAY MASSACRE, what would you expect of the market action on that week?

Since corrections tend to occupy about one half of the time of the move they correct, and this rally has been on the move since Dec 10, might that week be the logical end point of any REAL Correction? Thats my hunch. I am not a stickler on tight counts, so I do think that a good look at approximate possibilities make it easier to visualize multiple outcomes, and then attempt to assess probabilities. Having seen all manner of breakdowns in technical formations, this seems at least possible, if not probable, since I do not discount anything.

In light of the great rally we have had, we then see it as possible that this rally will need to correct in solid fashion in order to establish a base from which to run up a new rally.
